

The Burnham Art Trail 2012

The aim of the art trail is to raise the profile of the visual arts in the Dengie area through an exhibition of contemporary work. Many shops, businesses and public buildings in Burnham on Crouch have kindly agreed to support the Art Trail by providing publicly visible space (e.g. shop window, wall space) where the work and talents of artists, crafts people and designers from the local area can be displayed.

The art trail is planned to run from: - Saturday 23rd June to Sunday 1st July 2012

The event will be well publicised with advertisements being placed in relevant art and Essex publications, along with our website showing details of all the artists work and details of the trail itself (www.burnhamarttrail.co.uk). A free Leaflet/Map will be produced for distribution to all libraries in the area, tourist information centres, public information points and public notice boards. This leaflet will give details of all local businesses and artists participating, along with a map that the public can use to follow the trail. We will continue to be part of Essex Summer of Art which helps to raise our profile to a wider audience. ESOA is a county wide event that promotes fourteen art trails/events throughout the summer. It is very well publicised by Essex County Council, Firstsite and the BBC. A 44 page brochure is produced and widely distributed in the county, along with publicity in their own ECC publications and a complete section on the Essex Tourism website.

Work must be available for the entire duration of the art trail week. Artists will be expected to transport and install their work in their designated venue by Thursday 21st June 2012. Artists will be responsible for organising their own insurance if they deem this necessary
